

Is your school teaching effective financial education?

Find out at CheckYourSchool.org

Financial literacy—the ability to manage personal finances—is the one critical life skill that everyone needs to master. Yet many schools in America don't teach it.

We're working to change that, and we could use your help.

Go to CheckYourSchool.org to learn how you can help bring financial education to your local school.